

SARAI CROPPING ADVISORIES

Link: <http://sarai.uplb.edu.ph/>

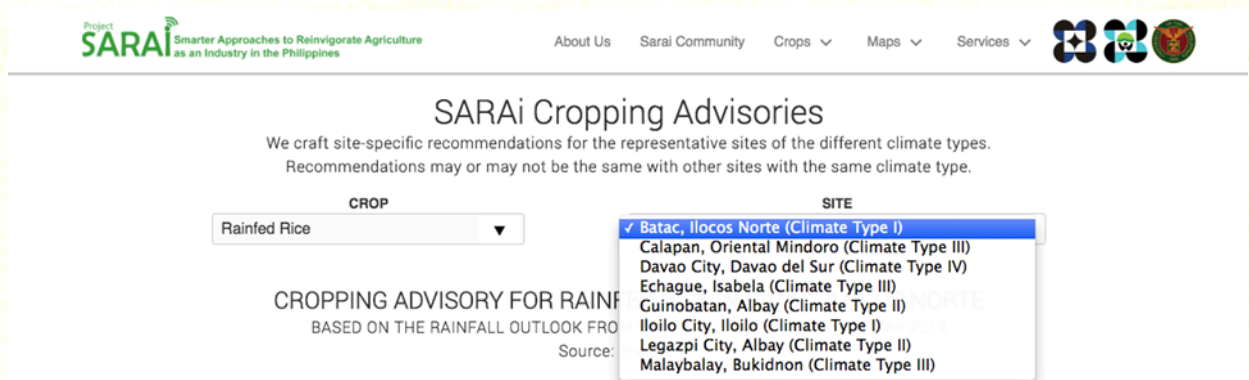

Users can use the SARAI Cropping Advisories to view the SARAI site-specific and general cropping and management practices. It features most of its advisories based on rainfall outlook .

1. Choose the crop you are interested in.

The screenshot shows the SARAI Cropping Advisories website. The header includes the SARAI logo and navigation links: About Us, Sarai Community, Crops, Maps, Services, and three social media icons. The main heading is "SARAI Cropping Advisories" with a subtext: "We craft site-specific recommendations for the representative sites of the different climate types. Recommendations may or may not be the same with other sites with the same climate type." Below this, there are two dropdown menus. The "CROP" dropdown is open, showing options: Rainfed Rice (selected), Corn, Cacao, Banana, and Rice & Corn. The "SITE" dropdown is set to "Batac, Ilocos Norte (Climate Type I)". The main content area displays "CROPPING ADVISORY FOR RAINFED RICE IN BATAc, ILOCOS NORTE" and "BASED ON THE RAINFALL OUTLOOK FROM MAY TO OCTOBER 2019 AS OF MAY 2019".

2. Choose your desired location.

The screenshot shows the SARAI Cropping Advisories website. The header is the same as the previous screenshot. The "CROP" dropdown is now set to "Rainfed Rice". The "SITE" dropdown is open, showing a list of locations: Batac, Ilocos Norte (Climate Type I) (selected), Calapan, Oriental Mindoro (Climate Type III), Davao City, Davao del Sur (Climate Type IV), Echague, Isabela (Climate Type III), Guinobatan, Albay (Climate Type II), Iloilo City, Iloilo (Climate Type I), Legazpi City, Albay (Climate Type II), and Malaybalay, Bukidnon (Climate Type III). The main content area displays "CROPPING ADVISORY FOR RAINFED RICE IN BATAc, ILOCOS NORTE" and "BASED ON THE RAINFALL OUTLOOK FROM MAY TO OCTOBER 2019 AS OF MAY 2019".

3. You can explore the graph for locations with available cumulative rainfall.

4. Download the graph and view the advisories in English or in Tagalog.

